I'll also show you a simple way to use this for CPA as well.

You'll Need A Clickbank Account

You'll Also Need A Good CPA Account

Attached to this WSO are two great CPA WSOs that you could go through that will show you how to get into CPA networks.

Attached is another guide on making money from Clickbank. Feel free to go through that after going through this WSO

Let's begin:

Sign Up To LinkedIn

You don't have to use your own real name. I would recommend signing up and creating a new account and really using your profile to look professional.

After typing in your name and email and password, make sure that you type in that you are EMPLOYED. You can choose between job seeker, employed or student, but stick with employed. Click on "self employed" at the bottom and make sure to choose "Internet" as your industry. You can definitely put in "Internet marketer" as your job title.

After your account is all created, you want to have good connections. I would recommend adding as many people as you can when they give you the chance. When signing up and after confirming your account, you actually see a ton of people you may know from your email address, and they'll even give you recommendations for getting "connections".

Just add as many people as you can find. Start adding people to your connections.

If you want, you could go to Fiverr and just type in LinkedIn in the search box. There are all kinds of different gigs you could use to help with your LinkedIn account and creating credibility.

Fill in all of your profile's information. Don't be afraid to spend a good 20 minutes crafting a profile that will showcase your credibility. You can say you own an online marketing company. Showcase your marketing as best as you can.

Making Money From This Through CPA

Let's do this with CPA first. I'll explain how you can do this via Clickbank later.

For CPA, I want you to first grab an offer that is job related. (Try signing up to at least 3 different reliable and top notch famous CPA networks so you can find a good offer like this)

Why is it an offer in the job niche?

Well, there are tons of people in this industry who are on linkedin looking for a place to work. People on linkedin are looking for more ways to make money online or find a regular job. It is highly professional world.

It could be an offer about anything job related.
It could be an offer on a list of jobs.

I found an offer from Peerfly about work from home jobs and a "list of jobs". It's sort of like a job listing offer for those who type in their email and name, and then they receive access to different job offers they can sign up to. Of course, the company could probably be asking them to pay for something. Who knows what they'll do with the leads. What's important is that for every person who types in their name and email, I get $1.80 for it.

I'm gonna go and grab the aff link and put it into tinyurl.com or bit.ly to get a shorter link to it.

Now, I want you to save that link for now. You will now head down to LinkedIn's home page, click on the search function to search for groups only, and then you will now type in anything that is related to your offer.

If you found a CPA offer like I did, you would type in, "job listings" or "work from home" into the search box. You'll find hundreds or even thousands of groups with these searches.

Now, click on the groups and join them one by one. Try to join just 8-10 for now. Some require an approval before you can be a member, but others don't.

When you get access to a group page, share some advice, knowledge, and shed some light.

It is of so much importance to do this part. Do not just post a CPA URL at random thinking that people will click on it right away. You want to be somewhat of a member who has shared some information in the past before people start trusting you.

You can try sharing articles you've found on the Warrior Forum, you can recommend some of them to join the Warrior Forum, you can maybe make a list of different ways to make money. Anything where you can easily show yourself as a PRO is going to be a great way to build trust. Just continue sharing info when you can for the next day.

After a few hours or after a day or two, it's TIME to start advertising.

Remember that offer of mine I told you about?

Well, when I went to one of the groups about working from home, I simply took my offer and I clicked on discussions in the group. On the page, you should be able to "start a discussion". This is great because all I have to do is make a small ad saying, "I'm looking for people who can do social media management, proofreading, and/or editing for $10-

$25/Hour.....(CPA link)"

Sometimes, I am required to put the link in another box, but take a look at the current page of the group. Every group is different, and some are even formatted differently.

-Spamming-

Do not post too many of these in a day in a single group. If you want, you could take one CPA offer and post it in different groups.

There are so many groups on LinkedIn that you aren't even limited to just the "work from home" groups. You could search for SEO groups, Internet marketing groups, affiliate marketing groups, and all kinds of groups in the MMO niche. Go after the ordinary "job listings" groups too.

In regards to spamming, there are many places where you are basically allowed to spam. I know, confusing, right? There are tons of different job listings groups where it's completely fine to do this. When you get the chance to do it, just go for it. You know it's fine when you see tons of others are doing it.

When doing this for CPA, you should really consider doing this in a variational of ways. CPA is not confined to just this one technique, but let this idea run through your head. You may go to your CPA account and realize and think, "hey wait, I think I may do it this way."

So don't be afraid to experiment and see what works for you. With tons of different groups in different make money online niches, you'll come to find that there are so many different types of groups available to join.

Clickbank Sales

Now, let's get to the next way to make cash off linkedin using Clickbank.

Head down to Clickbank and go through the different types of products in the e-business & marketing section.

You'll discover tons of different products that revolve around making money from home, job listings products, and all kinds of CB offers that would sell great on linkedin.

Now, let's begin.

A product I really like is paysocialmediajobs.com

Several months ago, I decided to buy this not because I needed the money, but because I was really intrigued just to know what it was inside.

Turns out, there are some really good job offers inside, and this is why I do like the site and I'm not afraid to promote it.

I've promoted it in all kinds of ways, but I will show you how you can promote it via LinkedIn.

You use the same process of using CPA, but instead of putting the CPA offers up there, you can just put your Clickbank affiliate link inside there instead.

Now, let's do this specifically for this product.

You can find a group about social media, IT, social networks etc. You could even find just a regular group about basic social media that isn't even related to making money online.

Contribute to the group a little bit.

And then offer everybody the chance to join the site.

I made an ad once saying, "We need social media marketers with some experience using Facebook & Twitter to manage different company's and their social networking sites."

It's really SUPER easy.

Again, I simply just did a quick change to the niche and to the group I'm targeting.

Let's take a look at the next type of product you could use:

<http://www.homejobgroup.com>

This site has a program you can sell on Clickbank.

On their site, it says that they have jobs for administrative work for $10/hour, order processing for $11/order, $17/per proof read article, etc.

You can go to freelance writing groups and advertise this project. You can also go to order work from home groups in all kinds of niches to advertise this since it's very broad.

Getting sales like this is very fast and pretty quick.

Of course, this isn't exactly how you have to market in this industry. You can always hit this up differently. If you don't want to sell products from CB in this niche, you can always just use CPA Marketing which is a great way alone to make money off of this method. The key is to be consistent at this.

This is basically the method. You can switch it up a bit with different MMO niches if you would like or with different products. It's all about testing. You can easily earn $100+ with this very quickly, but you do need to test it out a bit to get the most out of this.

The key is to experiment and keep doing different things with this, so don't feel like you have to stick to doing this just one way. Linkedin is a powerful source for traffic, and this method will help make you some fast cash and get some really good buyer traffic.
