

Where to Find Affiliate Products to Promote

---

Now that you have decided to become an affiliate marketer it is time to go out and find products that you can promote. You certainly have a lot of choices and today we will cover some of the top sites that offer hundreds of available products.

Some of the top niches that affiliates promote include the money making arena such as Internet Marketing, health and exercise and the dating niches. These are huge topics and while there is nothing wrong with promoting them you will find that lots of other affiliates are doing the same thing.

Your best plan of action is to try and find what we call a sub niche of one of these main ones. Let's look at the health niche as an example.

Health - this can be divided down into:

- Weight loss
- Juicing
- Diabetes
- Allergies
- Raw food
- Stress
- Anti aging
- Pain Relief

The list just goes on and on. At least you should be getting the idea of smaller niches that you can promote products to. Staying with the health niche you could focus on Anti aging and seniors. This gives you a wide range of products that you could promote including joint pain and arthritis supplements etc.

To find actual products to promote you can use the following sites:

- Clickbank

- JV Zoo
- Warrior Forum
- Nanacast

These sites are great if you are looking for internet marketing products. If you do want to focus on health products here are a few suggestions.

- Market Health
- Sell Health
- Amazon

Commission Junction is a huge site that lists lots of different products including health supplements, yoga, kettlebells, crafts and more. You can pretty much find an affiliate program for any topic you can think of.

Don't forget that many of the large retailers have their own affiliate programs. This includes Wal-Mart and Toys R Us amongst others. You can also search online for specific forums just use the following search string:

Niche or topic + affiliate programs

One thing to remember with many affiliate programs is that they may be country specific. This means that they may not accept affiliates if you live in a certain country. This is either because their products are not available in that country or they cannot pay foreign affiliates. Something to be aware of.

You now have lots of options of where to find affiliate programs and products that are suitable for you to promote.
